Q: How to monitor a mobile app? We have an iOS app with a free and a paid version. The paid version will have extra features, free version will have less features. We want to gather data about what people are doing in both versions, and we're thinking about using Google Analytics SDK, but the problem is that the data gets send to Google servers, and we want to try to avoid that. Another one option is to use a 3rd party app like BatterySaver, but it will log data. Are there any other options? A: You can use AdWhirl for this. From their whitepaper, it's basically like GA for free apps: AdWhirl is the most robust analytics solution available for mobile apps. This solution will allow you to measure your app's performance and also capture data about your users. When installed on your app, AdWhirl sends analytics data to Google Analytics and, via Google's servers, to other online services. They have an SDK which you can use for your free app and a programmatic API for your paid app. Çentik Çentik is a town and district of Düzce Province in the Black Sea region of Turkey, just east of the central highlands of Anatolia. I'm sure you will find help from the team but if you don't... this is where we are. Hi. I am submitting a claim for my kids tuition costs through our university's parent portal. I am having problems with what's being recorded on my end. More specifically, I am trying to figure out a way to cross-check the records a child's records and the information in the FAFSA. My FI-Sallie Mae reports show a child as having financial aid... but FAFSA says NO. This has occurred three times, now. I have asked Gwen to have another child's records reviewed for my daughter and have been informed that has been done. I am waiting for a response. For the first record, I am requesting a transcript to see if it is the same child. According to the student, it is. However, this doesn't seem to show up in FAFSA results. My parents filed their taxes in April and I did not file until November. How could I have financial aid available for October, November, and December, if my parents didn't file until April? I need to know this so that I can make the correct choices at the FAFSA. The FAFSA is requesting that I indicate whether or not I contributed money to the trust fund that would be used to pay tuition costs. The exact question is: Did f678ea9f9e
